The share button here exports this page as a jpg screenshot with a text line underneath "From my Planner Pig app".

These are the 'blank' cases for 5 status badges they can earn - these are not exam specific but universal.

They can earn one status BADGE by collecting 10 bear TOKENS. Each badge gives you an upgrade to the progress chart and an additional piece of progress statistic.

One bear TOKEN is received each day when the user sticks to plan for ALL exams.

There is a bonus one that they can get if they rate the app. It can only be the first badge. If they tap on the question mark on the first one yet to be earned (or the padlock icon 'hiding' the statistics) then the popup on the right comes up to take them to the app store.

If they tap anywhere else it will bring up the next popup re. how many days away from earning the badge. This counter resets on either rating the app or earning a badge. Once they've rated the app or have earned the first badge the first popup doesn't appear anymore and only the second popup does.

- Layout like social squirrel but a page for each exam
- The progress by topic is no longer there.
- The main bit here is the overall progress by exam and it only updates ONCE A WEEK on Sunday midnight local time. If there has been no progress made in a week then NO UPDATE is performed.

The status to be earned are:
- Newbie
- Novice
- Pro
- Scholar
- Master

Become a Newbie!
